COMPTIA

Description

CompTIA CTT+ certification is the credential recognizing excellence in instruction. It is a vendor-neutral certification that is applicable to training professionals in all industries. CompTIA CTT+ proves the mastery of core instructor skills, including preparation, presentation, communication, facilitation and evaluation in a classroom environment.

Certified instructors are essential for students who want to receive top-notch training, and employers agree that a professional training staff is valuable to the company. CompuCom and Ricoh require their employees to be CompTIA CTT+ certified, and Novell calls for candidates to have the CompTIA CTT+ credential in order to earn the advanced CNI (Certified Novell Instructor) certification.
